Metairie Park Country Day School
Metairie, Louisiana

Mr. John Forsythe Little

Over many years Country Day has seen a number of teachers come and go; a selected few will always be remembered. John Little is among these. With the close of this school year, he will retire. With him go many years of tradition and the echo of shuffling feet from "old room #14."

Mr. Little's influence has touched the lives of students, parents and faculty. He understands what Country Day is all about, and in matters touching either school philosophy or policy, he was concerned, no matter how small the issue or how divided the discussion.

Eight years ago, my first impression of John was of an established, traditional grey-haired gentleman, often given to expressing disapproval over some issue at a faculty meeting — or so it seemed to a fresh, newly graduated teacher full of modern ideas. I have learned since, as have hundreds of students, that an education involves more than an accumulation of facts; from the best of teachers we learn about attitudes, about affection and respect given and received. In time I realized the value of Mr. Little's ideas (many of which were far from "conservative") and discovered that his disapproval was directed only toward carelessness and the lack of a common courtesy.

John Little has loved us, and for that we are grateful. We can only regret that the future classes of Country Day will not be able to benefit from this gentleman who has looked after and advised so many. Whether he was on our football field WATCHING, in our classroom TEACHING, or on our stage ACTING, he was ours, BELONGING and CARING — just being Mr. Little.

We wish Mr. Little all the happiness and pleasure possible, with hope that he will never forget us. Perhaps once in a while he will return to stroll down the hall to "old room #14."

Winston Weinmann shall never under any circumstances for any reason go to the blackboard at any time — unless no one else is in the building.

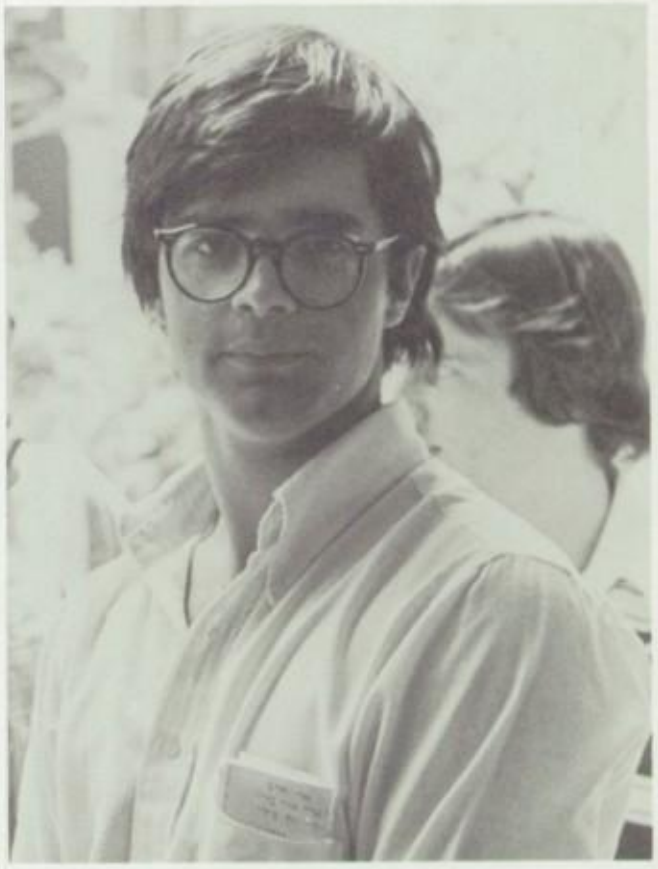
Jim Stuckey, Sept. 26, 1976
1:19 P.M.

Which father, which teacher, would prevent him from living his own life, from soiling himself with life, from loading himself from sin, from swallowing the bitter drink himself, from finding his own path? Do you think, my dear friend, that anybody is spared this path? Perhaps your little son, because you would like to see him spared sorrow and pain and disillusionment? But if you were to die ten times for him, you would not alter his destiny in the slightest.

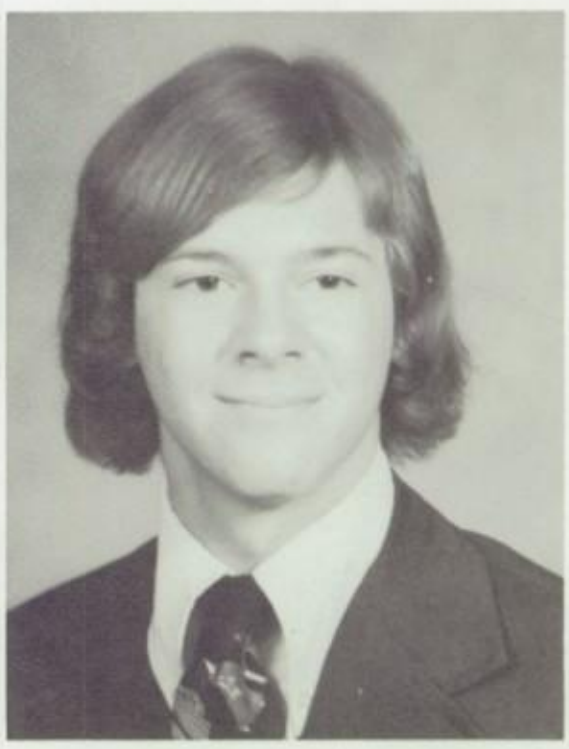
Siddhartha
Herman Hesse

"If there's no meaning in it," said the King, "that saves a world of trouble, you know, as we needn't try to find any."

Lewis Carroll

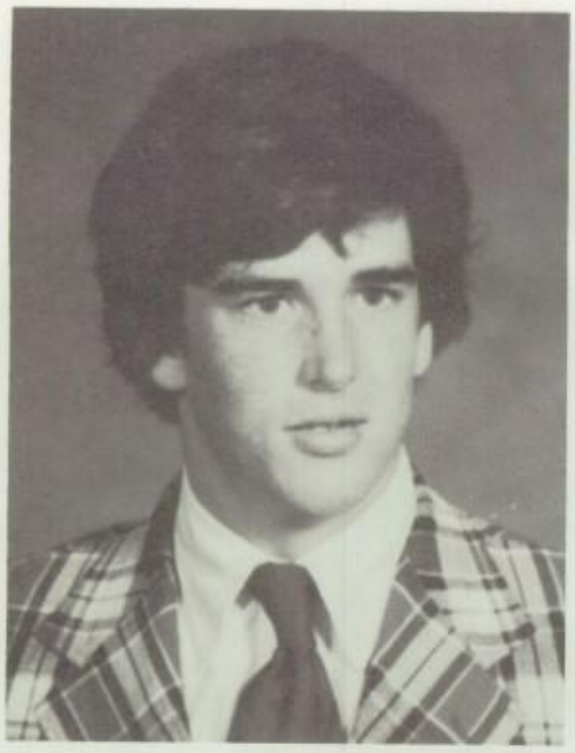


Winston Eason Weinmann



Freedom is the capacity to counteract statistics.

Antoine de Saint-Exupery



Michael Bright White

He who drinks gets drunk;
He who gets drunk goes to sleep;
He who goes to sleep does not sin;
He who does not sin goes to Heaven;
So let's all drink and go to Heaven.

Don't laugh at a youth for his affectations; he is only trying on one face after another to find a face of his own.

Country Day's 1975 football squad achieved many milestones including a state play-off berth, a 1000 yard rusher, eight wins and six defensive shut-outs. Our achievements this past season can be attributed to a group of athletes that possessed a positive attitude toward their own abilities and a desire to win.

The 1975 season was highlighted by a defense that allowed only 4.6 points per game and led the district in over-all defense. The offense contributed by gaining more rushing yardage and scoring more points than any other Cajun team. Crucial district victories over First Assembly, N.O.A. and Crescent City contributed to our achieving a state play-off berth.

Country Day's 1975 football team had a special togetherness that helped carry them to one of the best seasons in the schools history.

1976 Cajuns

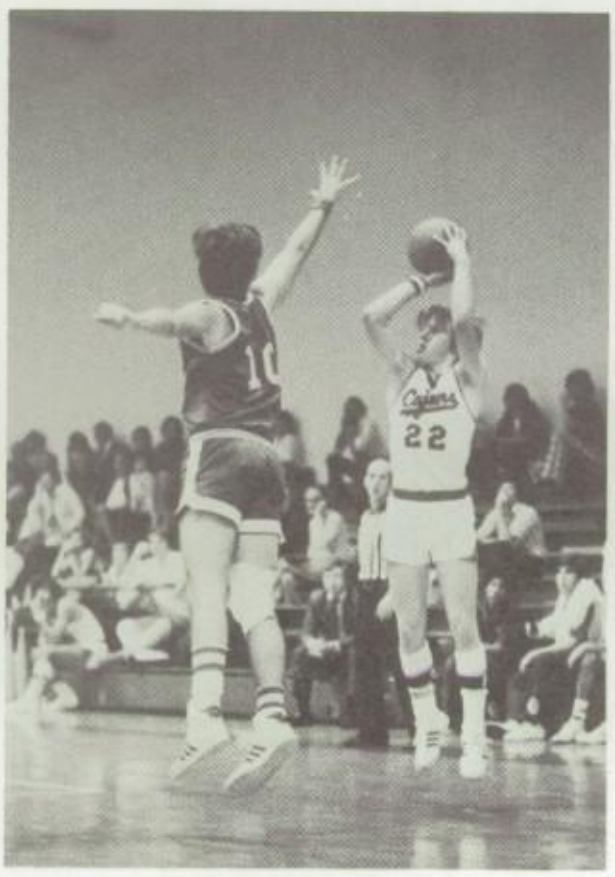
COACH Richard Jarrett

Statisticians Liz Slater, Bibba Bullington



If at the Beginning of the 1975-76 basketball season one looked back at previous basketball seasons at Country Day, he would find good teams that faired well during regular season play, then would lose in the first game of playoff competition. There was no reason to expect differently of the upcoming season, but to the surprise of all but a few, Country Day fielded one of its best teams ever: one which strove for a little more.

After clinching a state-playoff position, the Cajuns could have easily felt appeased and played the next few games effortlessly, lose, and then go home and enjoy Mardi Gras. Instead, with the full support of a highly spirited crowd at each game, the team played with more intensity with each game and the team play improved each time the team stepped on the court. The team's marked improvement is witnessed in the three NOA contests: the Cajuns lost the first by seven points, only to come on to win the next two games by twelve and twenty-five points respectively. After winning the district, the Cajuns continued playing aggressive ball which finally got the team into the state championship game.

There were two basic elements present in this year's squad which made the Cajuns winners: good coaching and a winning attitude. Coach Richard Jarrett spent endless hours since the end of last year, planning the style of play which would make C.D. champions. Preseason games were used for experimenting, and this experimenting paid off at the end of the year when the Cajuns were ready for any situation. Coach Jarrett's hard work and basketball knowledge, along with the players' hustle and desire, both made this year's team a model for future C.D. basketball teams.

The 1975-76 Country Day basketball season will go down as a great success, and the success experienced by the team is owed in a great part to four seniors whose leadership, unselfishness, hard work and overall ability put the team in the state championship game: Jimmy Kock, Kieth Holbrook, Robert Montgomery, and Vance Reynoir. The tears which poured from my eyes at the end of the final game were not only because we had just missed being state champs by inches, but mainly because I realized I had just concluded playing my last high school basketball game with the heart of the Country Day basketball team.

The frustration of being an "also ran" finally became the satisfaction of being the champion for the varsity soccer team. Eliminated from the play-offs in each of the last several years, this year's team climaxed an undefeated season by winning the league title. In winning closely contested play-off games against parochial school division champ Rummel and public school division champ Bonnabel, the Country Day team shook off the "choke" label that had hounded its flowing play-off disappointments in recent seasons.

Going into the first play-off round, Country Day had been suffering from a slight slump, managing only ties in its last two regular season games against Holy Redeemer and Newman. The highly touted offense — led by league scoring leader Larry Kornman and linemates Mike Dunn, Craig Cahen, and Jeff Christovich — managed only one goal in those two games and was held scoreless by Holy Redeemer, a pushover earlier in the season, despite a season's high of 58 shots. In the Newman game, the defense — anchored by Ken Legeai, Winston Weinmann, Blair Durant, and injury riddled Whit Neill — gave up its first goal of the season. Up to that point, the goalie tandem of George Leaman and Charles Eshleman had recorded an incredible ten straight shut outs . . .

In spite of those two games, the team's determination reasserted itself. The ensuing game with Rummel was probably the high point of the season. Both teams played almost flawless soccer until, in the closing moments of regulation time, Rummel was awarded a penalty kick. With the season hanging in the balance for Country Day, Leaman dramatically stopped the shot, and the game was soon forced into overtime. The taut play continued through two overtime periods and into sudden death. On a break, Kornman converted a pass from rookie Jim Trotter to put Country Day into the finals. I don't think anyone who watched that game from the Country Day side will ever forget that moment and the feelings which accompanied it.

The championship game was somewhat anti-climatic. Bonnabel's free-lancing style of play produced an early goal, but it was inevitable that Country Day's tight passing game would prevail, as the subsequent scores by Dunn, Kornman, and Christovich proved. A late goal by Bonnabel narrowed the margin, but the defense thwarted further Bonnabel movement.

A soccer team's success hinges on the ability of its halfbacks to play the game at both ends — attacking and defending — of the field. Obviously, then, a large measure of credit belongs to the halfback corps of Brian Fasterling, Norman Jones, Tom Staub, and George Plater, led by wily veteran Jim Stuckey. Also contributing to this year's success was the strength of the bench, including Fritz Costley, rookies Scott Durant and Arjun Chakrawarti, and the versatile John Christian.

In closing, let me add special thanks to my assistant coaches, Sherril McCutchen and Joe Stuckey. Their help on and off the field was invaluable throughout the season.

MVP
State Tournament

The Country Day Cajuns won the State Volleyball title for the second consecutive year.

As defending regional champs, the Cajuns hosted the regional tournament and had little trouble demolishing all of their opponents. Every match was won in two straight games. Match scores were Lutheran 15-1, 15-0. St. Charles 15-3, 15-6, Fisher 15-3, 15-5, and Kehoe 16-14, 15-9, all in favor of the Cajuns. Country Day combined excellent serving with superior offensive play to finish first over a field of twelve.

All members of the squad contributed to the regional victory. Scoring for the Cajuns were:

| | |
|---|---|
| Bibba Bullington | 30 |
| Mimsy Huger | 18 |
| Suzanne LeCorgne | 12 |
| Deborah VanderLinden | 11 |
| Sally Bartlett | 9 |
| Cabby Huger | 8 |
| Robin Sicard | 6 |
| Ginsie Stauss | 6 |
| Nell McLellan | 5 |
| Susan Shuler | 5 |
| Lynn DePass | 4 |
| Susan VanderLinden | 3 |
| Sheri Bye | 1 |

With a total team effort the Cajuns clenched the Division II Regional win.

The State Play-Offs were held in Baton Rouge with the Cajun team drawing a bye in the first round. Our first match, Doylin, gave the girls an opportunity to display their state championship skills. The 4-2 offense was run with near perfection. Sally Bartlett and Mimsy Huger set the ball with accuracy and precision to spikers Lynn, Cabby, Bibba, and Susan. Doylin players seemed mesmerized by the speed and power of the Cajun spiker. The final score was 15-0, 15-5 in favor of the powerful Cajuns.

The finals were not as easily won. Leonville greatly improved from last year's finals, challenged Country Day's offense and defense. The first game of the match found the Cajuns battling for every point and struggling to keep the serve. Tired, but not about to give up, the Cajuns won 15-11. The second game can only be described as a Cajun emotional let down. The team mis-set, spiked poorly and had a difficult time with the serve. Leonville took the game 15-10. When struck by the realization that the state title was in jeopardy, the Cajuns began the third game filled with apprehension. The Leonville team seemed determined to go home state champs. The Cajuns were down 5-0 when the offense began to click. Lynn DePass had little trouble placing her spikes and the Cajuns made the score 5-5. The teams battled point for point. At 9-9 Leonville began making foolish errors and Country Day materialized on every play. The final score 15-9 and another state title for the Cajuns.

For the past three years senior Lynn DePass has continued to lead the offense. For her efforts she was chosen on the state All-Star team. This year coaches recognized her superior abilities and chose her most valuable player in the State tournament. A fitting climax to an exceptional high school career.

Lynn DePass has used her natural abilities and her burning desire for competition to gain recognition for herself and Country Day School in the 1975-76 state track competition.

To compete in the LHSAA state track meet, a girl must finish first or second in her region. With this goal before her, Lynn set out to break the state mile record of 5:47. Daily pace work prepared her mentally and physically for the demanding run.

The regional meet was held at White Castle High School. Lynn had little trouble demolishing the field and crossed the finish line, astonishing the home town fans with a 5:30 time, forty yards ahead of her nearest opponent.

Arrival in Delhi, La. found state competition more challenging. Analyzing the times and abilities of her opponents, Lynn began the race aware that she must shove seconds off her regional time. Within 5:22 Lynn DePass became state champion. Twenty five seconds faster than the defending champ!

WHAT IS A NECKTIE?

A necktie is a man's way of expressing his personality. It is a small strip of cloth that tells the world how he feels. A tie is his ego. His mood. His touch of individuality.

In this age of sameness, a necktie tells a man he's an individual: Unique. Discerning.

A necktie is a symbol. It tells a youngster that he has grown up. Tying a necktie is a special manly skill he must learn.

A necktie is small, but important; when you look at a man, you first see his face, then his tie.

A necktie says a man has fashion sense and confidence. It is as individual as his signature.

Quite simply, a necktie is the mark of a gentleman.

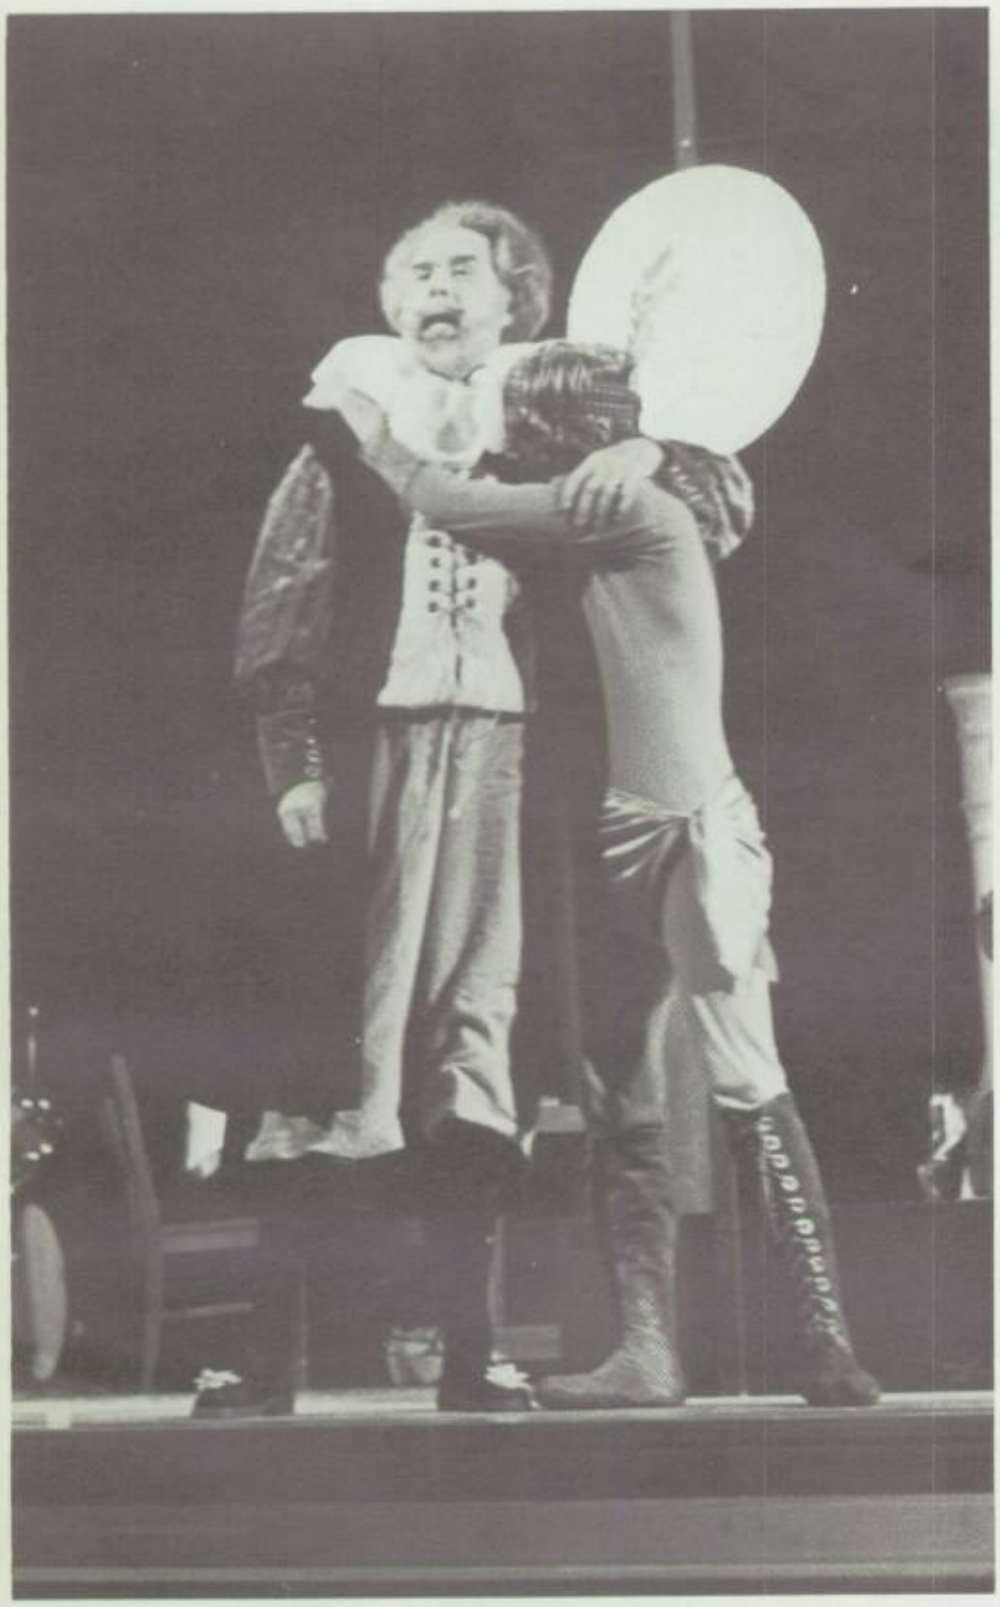
Those lessons in third grade finally paid off.

Well the invitation said casual, didn't it!?

So you want to know how I got mono?

I wonder what kind of additives she uses in her fuel.

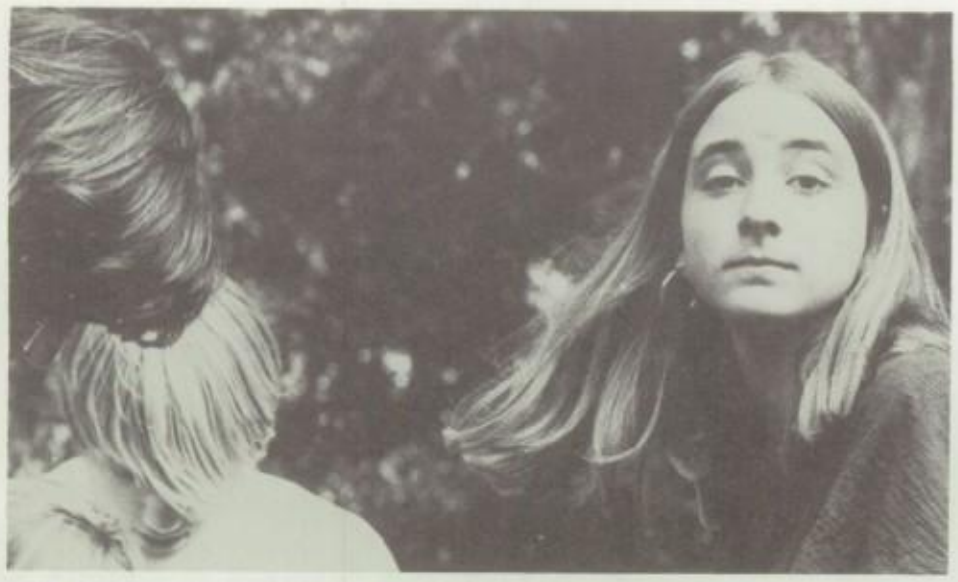


WE make out all right.

What do you mean we're staying for lunch?

A few more feet and we can fit the colonel.

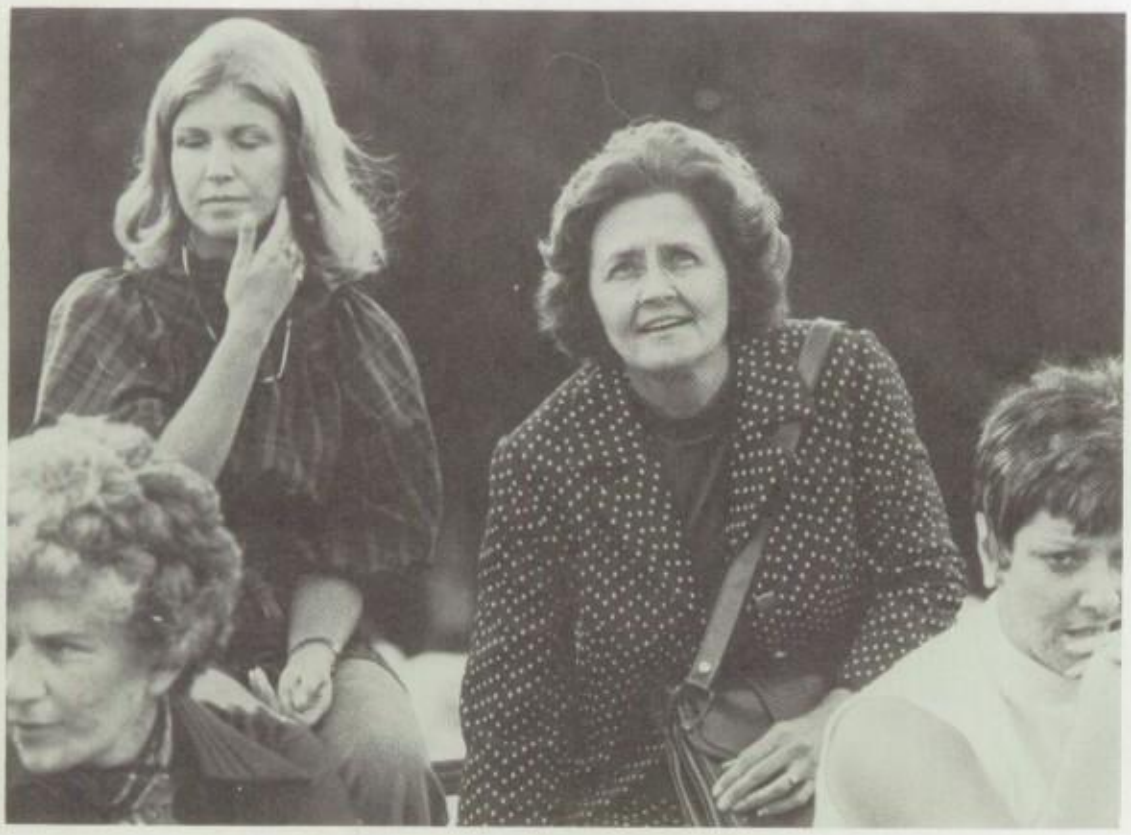
OLE!!!



Nobody TOLD ME about the yearbook meetings.

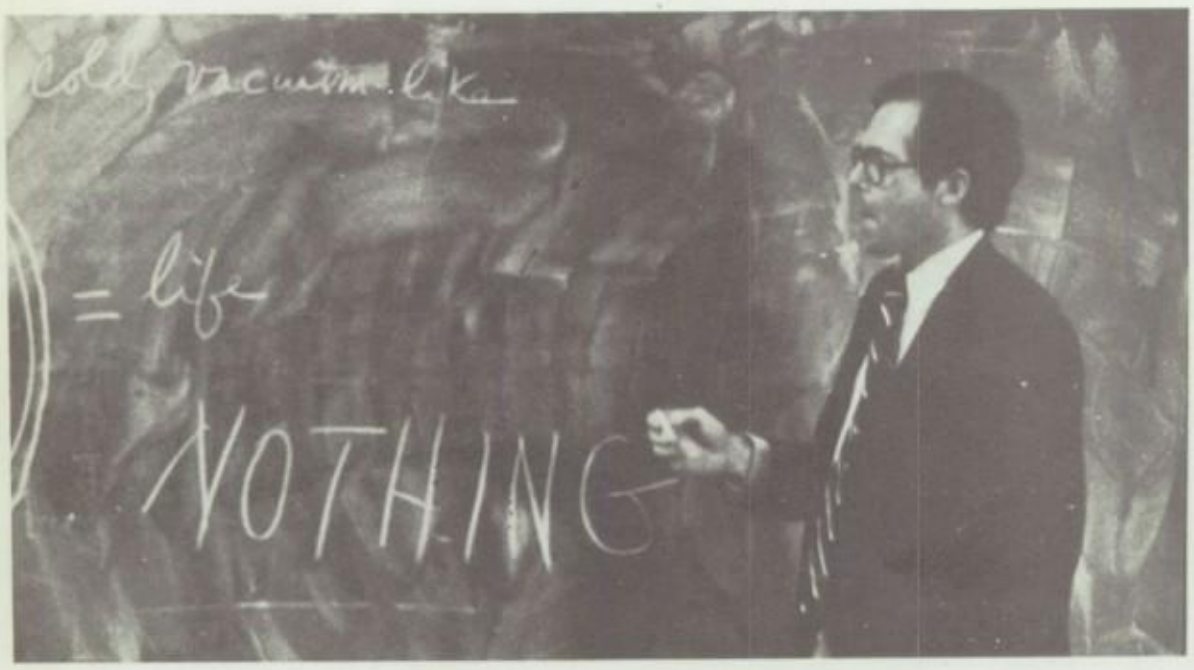
Hey baby, come swing with me.

Say man, you makin' fun of my dancin'?



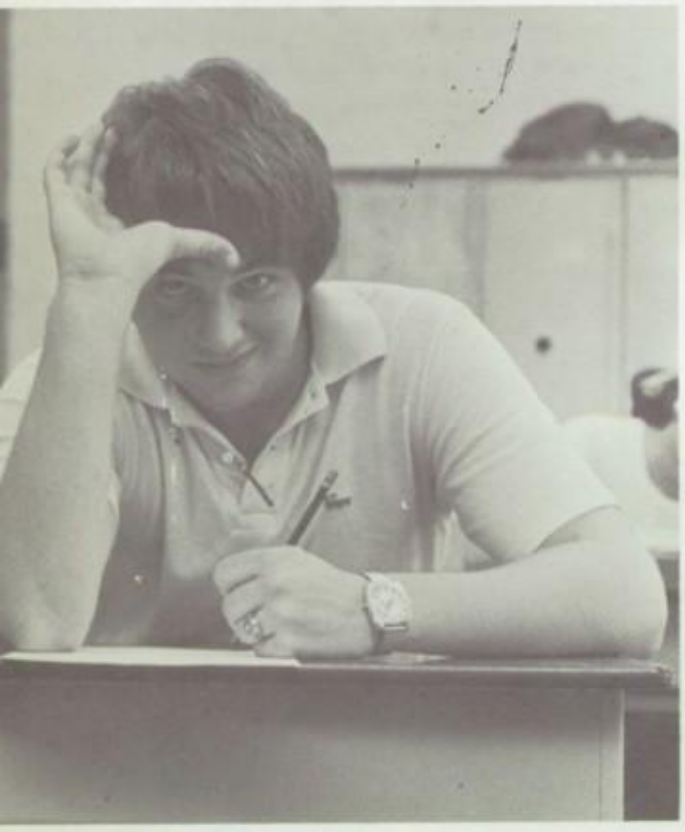
I'd just like to say one word about . . .

Please. Just one more kiss.



It's time for English!

How do I spell relief?



I can't believe they ask that.

It's still there Tina!

And after Hogan's Heros I'll go over to Billy's house and . . .

Astroturf: Never needs watering; never a care or bother.

What is it that comes after three?

Boy, is she gonna need a shower!

The prophet who hath found his way out of the wood.

I think it's time to skip out.

Scaring the cockroaches out of today's lunch.

Shake it to the left . . . shake it to the right . . .

Does this mean we're engaged?

Have a great great, day day.

I can't believe they paroled us for good behavior.
